GOV. COX CLOSES HIS CAMPAIGN AT TOLEDO, OHIO

The Leaders Regard Last Speech at Toledo as Good Luck.

By the Associated Press
DAYTON, Ohio, Nov. 1.—After a day of rest at his home here, Governor Cox was to leave today for Toledo for the last speech of his campaign.

Though the campaign virtually ended at Chicago Saturday, the governor said he had agreed to make a formal close in Toledo on election eve, because party followers there regarded his appearance as good luck, asserting his only chance of defeat was when he failed to end his speaking engagement in that city. The governor and his party were scheduled to reach Toledo early in the evening and will return to Dayton as soon as the speech is over.

Preparations were made today at the governor's newspaper office for the receipt of results on election night. Special telegraph instruments set up in the office include a receiving apparatus used in the election won by Grover Cleveland more than a quarter of a century ago.

The governor will return from Toledo early election morning and expects to vote early. He plans to spend the day at home, coming to his newspaper plant as soon as the first ballot in the country is closed.

Again We Say, Let's Go Forward!

The reactionaries of this city and county hate the Ada News. The people who are against paving, against the court house bonds, against the hospital bonds, and against everything that would make this city and county great, hate the Ada News—and we don't care.

In this connection, it may not be amiss to again state that this paper will never betray its trust to the people to boost for everything that's good, that's progressive and that will have a tendency to put this city and community in the class with other civilized and progressive cities and communities of the state and nation.

We are yet unable to see why Ada and Pontotoc county should not progress and go forward as all other cities in the state and nation are doing at this time. We refuse to concede that the people of Ada and Pontotoc county are not as good as the people in any other city or county in the state or nation, and we are honest in the claim that they are entitled to all they can get and the very best that they can afford. Not only that but we believe that we can afford anything that any other city or county can afford.

In view of these facts, and in view of the inestimable value of both institutions, we again reiterate the statement made many times before that the people of this county should, at the election tomorrow, go to the polls and vote FOR the court house and county hospital bonds.

The cost will be spread out over a long period of years and the increase in taxes necessary to build and equip these institutions will be so infinitesimally small and will fall so lightly on each individual tax payer that they will never feel it.

It is useless to argue in favor of such enterprises; it is worse than useless to extoll the many advantages of both; all that we care to do is to ask you, as honest citizens of the city and county, to lay aside your prejudices and vote your convictions. Don't vote against the bonds to spite the Ada News, for the Ada News can get along without either of them just as well as you can, and better than many.

A minute's thought on either question will convince you that they are right and that the bonds should be voted. Then simply do your duty and vote your convictions and you will have no regrets over the consequences.

HARDING SMILES OVER PROSPECT OF VICTORY

Confident of Great Victory
At Polls Tomorrow
He Says.

By the Associated Press
MARION, Ohio, Nov. 1.—His campaign over and his final analysis of campaign issues laid before the people in the pre-election statement, Senator Harding took a rest today from the long and arduous labors of the presidential contest.

A smile answered those who asked for his prediction of the outcome of tomorrow's balloting and in place of any special pre-election claim he called attention to his public utterances of the last week in which he had declared many times that he fully expected to be inaugurated next March as the nation's chief executive.

Detailed forecast of the result the nominee left to his party managers, saying he had made his fight to the best of his ability and was ready to abide by the result.

The Senator and Mrs. Harding, who has been his constant companion throughout the campaign, plan to go to the polls early in the afternoon and spend the remainder of the day quietly at their home.

Tonight the Senator and Mrs. Harding will receive the election returns at their home. Bulletins compiled by the Associated Press will keep them advised during the evening of the latest total reported from each state.

Democrats Attention

The campaign is fast drawing to a close and I am satisfied that with the full democratic strength of Pontotoc county voted on election day, we can roll up a majority of three thousand votes in Pontotoc county for Tom McKeown and Scott Ferris. In order to do this we must have a little financial assistance from the active democrats and I urge all democrats who want to see Tom McKeown and Scott Ferris carry Pontotoc county by three thousand majority, to bring or mail a little contribution to Harmon Ebey, treasurer of the democratic county central committee. This money is to be used to get the democratic vote into the ballot boxes on election day. Women can contribute the same as men.

F. F. BRYDIA,
Chairman Democratic County
Central Committee.

John C. Slavin.

It is reported in New York that John McGraw, manager and part owner of the Giants, has offered John C. Slavin was severely beaten up mysteriously after he and McGraw had been at the Lambs' club for a social evening.

DEMOCRATS MUST GAIN TWO SEATS

In Lower House They Need 51 to Insure Control of the Next Session.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 1.—A new house of representatives and slightly more than one-third of the senate will be chosen in Tuesday's general election.

While the presidential campaign has eclipsed all others in interest, the congressional fights, particularly the senatorial contests, have received much attention from the leaders of both parties.

Both Senator Harding and Governor Cox have pleaded with the voters to elect a congress in which their respective parties would have a majority. The heads of the congressional and senatorial campaign committees have been especially active, stressing the importance of the senatorial elections because the senate, which meets next March 4, will be called upon to dispose of the question of peace with Germany.

To Elect 34 Senators.

The present senate is composed of 48 republicans, one progressive republican and 47 democrats, which on a strict party vote, has given the republicans a majority of two. Thirty-four senators will be elected Tuesday, the terms of 32 expiring next March 3, and two being selected to fill unexpired terms caused by the deaths of Senators Bankhead of Alabama and Martin of Virginia. These two places are certain to be filled by democrats.

Pick 435 Congressmen.

Seventeen of the 32 senators whose terms expire next March 3 are democrats and 15 republicans. The democrats to obtain a majority must capture at least two senatorial seats from the republicans. Leaders of both parties are claiming excessions to their present strength.

Four hundred and thirty-five members of the house of representatives are to be elected Tuesday.

The number necessary for a majority is 218. The present membership of the house is 190 democrats; 232 republicans; two independent republicans; one independent and one prohibitionist; with nine vacancies.

To obtain a majority the democrats must gain 51 seats, as eight of the nine vacant seats normally are held by republicans.

Speculation Centers Around the Women Vote—Past Elections Not Considered As Criterion.

By the Associated Press.

NEW YORK, Nov. 1.—With the opening less than 24 hours away, both republican and democratic headquarters today took up the stride which will carry them into the final scene of the presidential contest tomorrow, either to victory or defeat. Both major parties began their campaigning today by reasserting confidence in the election of their candidate.

"Cox and Roosevelt will win," declared George White, democratic national chairman.

Will Hays, leader of the republican forces, translated his expectations into figures, expressing the conviction that Harding will have no less than 368—probably 395—electoral votes out of the possible 531. The number required to elect is 266.

Interest in the last day of the great fight centers in the final desperate attempt to bring over the "doubtful" states with large electoral votes to deliver, or to save the United States senators in other doubtful states where the electoral vote is not large enough to be indispensable.

The salient example of states in the first category is Ohio, home state of the two principal candidates, with 24 votes, while the outstanding case of the second class is Nevada, with only three.

Other states where the eleventh hour contest is intense with both parties sanguine of success, are Arizona, Kentucky, Maryland, New Mexico, Tennessee, North Carolina, and Oklahoma. All of these states as well as the buckeye state, are claimed by both republicans and democrats.

Second only in interest to the outcome of the voting is the subject, "what will the women do?" Leaders of both major parties claim possession of advance information on what is expected of the new class of voters exercising their franchise in all the states for the first time.

Interest in ordinarily well informed political circles centers about the numerical proportion of women who will vote tomorrow, in comparison with the male vote, sectional distribution of the women's vote and the possibility to be looked for.

Most of the wiseacres declare that the recent Maine election, where the woman vote was well under half of that of the men, can be considered no criterion for prediction of a national election result. Women in states where universal suffrage has obtained for some years are expected to outdo their newly enfranchised sisters, and on the other hand, the "experts" admit that this hypothesis also may be wrong.

The socialist party has made claims for the largest proportion of the woman's vote. With the new voters probably belonging to the party, added to the non-socialists who, they say, will return the ticket again in protest against the imprisonment of the party's presidential nominee, Eugene V. Debs, the socialists predict a vote of at least three million. In 1916 the socialist vote was less than six hundred thousand. If any of the six national parties start to break the electoral college record tomorrow they must aim at those set up in the election of tickets headed by President Wilson. In 1912 his majority of 339 was the greatest record of the election.

"Pay No Attention To," Etc.

All political organizations are burning the wires and burdening the mails today urging everybody to pay no attention to the political canards issued at the eleventh hour by every other political organization except their own. All parties are now warning the voters against the deep laid traps of every other party.

The people will not pay much attention to eleventh hour stories and less attention to eleventh hour appeals to be on their guard. The people as a rule are abundantly able to guard themselves against political trickery. They know that eleventh hour stories are usually circulated by all political parties. They know that all parties always appeal to the public to be on guard against belated charges. They know full well that stories are sprung at the third and fourth hours just as baseless and just as misleading as those that gain circulation at the last hour. And they pay very little attention at any hour to stories that are false or suspicious on their face.

To pick 435 Congressmen.

The number necessary for a majority is 218. The present membership of the house is 190 democrats; 232 republicans; two independent republicans; one independent and one prohibitionist; with nine vacancies.

To obtain a majority the democrats must gain 51 seats, as eight of the nine vacant seats normally are held by republicans.

RAILROAD MEN ARE FOR SCOTT FERRIS

EL RENO, Oct. 30.—At a meeting here today of nearly 700 railroad employees, including a delegation of about 300 from Chickasha, who came in a special train, E. P. Curtis, vice-president of the Order of Railway Conductors and secretary of the labor organization, discussed the Esch-Cummins law and its effect upon the rights of railroad laboring men in collective bargaining.

Curtis referred to the U. S. senatorial contest in Oklahoma and reviewed the records of members of congress in connection with this law and stated that it was the purpose of the organization to support all members of congress who were opposed to the Esch-Cummins bill and oppose all members who favored it.

Curtis referred to the U. S. senatorial race in Oklahoma and declared that while Scott Ferris, the democratic candidate, was absent when the bill came up for a vote, he was paired against it. Representative J. W. Harrelle, the republican senatorial candidate, was present and voted for the bill. Curtis declared, which vote was entirely adverse to the interests of the railroad employees, and the speaker expressed the hope that laboring men generally in Oklahoma, and especially those employed on railroads, would lend their support to Ferris and vote against Harrelle.

NEW YORK, Oct. 28.—Tidings of parenthood, sent by wireless from Brooklyn and received by Frederick V. Whitehead in a diver's suit, several fathoms under the sea off Cape Henlopen, brought him from the deep to rush home to see his now-born baby girl.

Whitehead, who was chief mechanic's mate on submarine S-5, which went to the bottom in September, was engaged in salvaging the hulk of the ill-fated craft when the message, picked up by the S-5, was relayed to him by a telephone attached to the diver's suit.

CHARGES POLICE CHIEF GRAFTS ON ROOMING HOUSES

ENID, Oct. 27.—Accusations of Patrolman William Hayworth, following his discharge from the Enid police force by Chief Al Thrasher, that Thrasher had been accepting "protection" money from rooming houses where immorality is practiced, led to adoption of a plan by the city commissioners to put "new blood" into the police force here.

Hayworth's accusations against the chief were explained by Thrasher before the mayor Thursday, the police chief saying that he had collected $20 from two rooming houses to send Marie Fisher, a young woman suffering from a venereal disease, to Oklahoma City for treatment at the government clinic.

Hayworth's suspension stands and W. J. Hallam, for six years a soldier in the regular army and a first sergeant for one year overseas, has been appointed to succeed him. The city commissioners will make further appointments to increase the force to eight men.

WOULD GATHER BONES OF ITALY'S UNBURIED DEAD

ROME, Oct. 27.—A great national subscription is now being made to collect together all the bodies of Italian soldiers who died fighting on the mountain front and are insufficiently buried, all the bones which are whitening on the rocky mountain sides and to give them fitting sepulchre on one of the highest peaks, probably San Michele. It is proposed that a simple, noble monument should be erected under which will rest together officers and soldiers, rich and poor.

One of the sad phases of Italy's war on the mountain front was the difficulty of burying those who fell fighting. The soil on the Carso range is such a thin crust over the massive rock of which the mountains are formed that dynamite had often to be used in order to make a sufficiently deep grave especially on those historic peaks like Monte Santo, Monte Nero, the Grappa and the Hermada, where Italian blood flowed like water. The Austrians originally held all the passes there and dominated the Italians at every point but they were taken and retaken over and over again until the final victory gave them to Italy forever.

Blessed are the meek, for they shall inherit the earth.—Matt. 5:5.

Let's Do the Work Ourselves

Why not a municipal paving outfit for the city of Ada, under the direct management of the commissioner of public works? In other words, why not do our own paving, eliminating all the contractor's profits and other fees which must be paid out when the work is done by someone else for us? In this way, and in this way alone, can the cost of paving be reduced here for a period of years, as the costs of materials and labor is not going to drop to any extent worth mentioning.

The new department could be created by the city commissioners, and the work could be taken up from where it stands right now and carried through. The commissioners have complied with the law in voting for the paving. Our banks right here at home will furnish the money on the warrants to be issued against the property affected for doing the work, an outfit can be bought and maintained by the city, a force of workers employed under the direction of a paving expert, and the work done by ourselves.

"That's our idea exactly," said Bat Roach, one of the committeemen delegated by a meeting of property owners last Friday night to wait upon the News, "and we feel sure that everyone who was at the meeting last night will back up the city to the limit if it will adopt the plan."

The committee was sent to the News to "explain" the position of the property owners who oppose the present plan for paving. The committee was informed that the Ada Evening News stands for every improvement which promises to redound to the city's benefit. The News is for paving all of the streets, because such a move will pull us out of the country village class. We are for paving, and favor the plan for doing the work ourselves. If that cannot be, however, we are for having the work done.

It was suggested that the committee call another meeting of the property owners, invite the city officials and the press to be present and participate, and all work together to thresh out the problem in the best possible way. The plan met with the instant approval of the committee.

"We are not opposed to paving or to any other move for the betterment of Ada, but we do believe that a better way can be found for doing the work," Mr. Roach declared. An agreement could be reached at the meeting resulting in the withdrawal of the injunction proceedings.

It is of no use to hem and haw over the matter. Let all who favor paving get together and work out the method of going at it. The city-owned paving plant should solve the problem once and for all. And when the work is completed, the outfit could be used for keeping the paving in good shape and making repairs. It would be a worth-while investment.

Let's go!

LET THE PEOPLE RULE

The election tomorrow is the election of all the people and the people will decide it in their own way. The issues and the candidates have been presented to the voters, and tomorrow the voters will render their verdict. Whether the country shall be governed for another quadrennium by the democratic party or whether the republicans are to assume once more the powers of government will be settled tomorrow by all the people. This is their government and their will is law.

Every voter regardless of party belief and affiliation should vote tomorrow. He ought to show sufficient interest in the destiny of his country to avail himself of the privilege of a freeman. He ought to possess sufficient respect for the men who from the days of Runny Meade have died to establish free government to go to the polls tomorrow and vote for the best interests of his country. The voter who casts an ignorant or vicious or corrupt ballot is a bad citizen. But the man who fails to vote at all is not a good citizen.

Not only is it our duty to vote and to vote for what we consider the well being of our country but it is our duty to accept the verdict of the majority in a cheerful spirit and render loyal support to the chosen candidate, no matter who that candidate may be. The man elected president tomorrow will be president of all the people and all good citizens will give him ungrudging support once he has taken his official oath. No official can yield his best service unless he has the co-operation of his fellow officials and the hearty support of his people.

Then let us abide in cheerfulness by tomorrow's decision and forgetting the things that should be forgotten remember the things that should be remembered. No matter what the decision may be let us rejoice with those who rejoice. Whether the victor in this contest be Cox or Harding, you will have as good a president for the next four years as your neighbor has, and you will owe to that president the same duty that your neighbor owes. The world loves a cheerful loser and will think more of you if you lose as an American should.

HER VOTE—THE QUESTION OF THE HOUR

WHAT OTHERS SAY

Pawhuska Capital: The pedestrian who tries to cross a busy street either has a lot of confidence in himself or in providence.

Pawhuska Capital: That Baltimore preacher who refused to preach against the way women are wearing their clothes may be thinking of running for office.

Chickasha Express: "Are women intelligent?" is the subject of an article in the Century Magazine. We would n't dare to ask such a silly question but the woman who wrote the article did it.

Ardmoreite: Johnson, who is bitterly against the league, and Hoover, who favors it, are both working for Harding. It is evident that someone is not voting for principle, but is voting for pie.

McAlester News-Capital: Lil' old New York ain't so bad after all. Six new clerks have been added to the marriage license bureau of late. However, we don't know how many clerks the divorce department is using.

Shawnee News: An epidemic of carnival似乎 seems to have broken out all over Oklahoma—which is fair warning for the Shawnee city council to be on the lookout for some sort of scheme to foist one of these very undesirable aggregations upon the public.

The interior of the building was handsomely decorated, many large bouquets from well-wishers sitting upon the tables and shelves. A beautiful carnation was pinned on every visitor by a most charming young woman.

The new bank starts out with a capital stock of $100,000, and a surplus fund of $10,000.

H. W. Wells is president of the Security. W. M. Pegg is vice-president. Leslie Prince is cashier and Edgar Allen Poe is assistant cashier. All of the officers were on hand this morning to greet the visitors and patrons.

The bank's home is the newest building on Main street, and adds considerably to the attractiveness of the business section.

O-o-o-oh! Spooks Walk at Faculty Entertainment

Even staid faculty members are affected by the contagion of the Hallowe'en spirit. Such proved to be a fact when President and Mrs. Linschiedt threw open their doors on Friday evening to the faculty of East Central to come and forget scholastic responsibilities for a time and enjoy a few hours of fun.

The guests were met by three mysterious creatures who literally pushed them around to the back door where they were met and piloted upstairs by a speechless ghost. Each was shown into a room where he was to don the ghostlike apparel.

When the several ghosts had assembled at the rendezvous, such a medley of sounds went forth that creatures of mortal habitudes would have succumbed with fright. Each was given a small pumpkin on which was written some especial title, as "the Ghost of Music," "The Ghost of Poetry," "The Ghost of Night," etc. Each was to identify the others by their special names and much merriment resounded as identifications were in progress. All were asked to join hands and form a circle, when lighted tapers were passed around, and woe be unto the ghost who let "Jack" die in his hands.

It was announced that the house was infested with obnoxious beings, and the aid of the non-mortals was implored to make the rounds and rid the place of the pests. During the journey through the darkened passages many evil spirits were encountered but each non-mortal fought manfully and put to rout any obstruction that came into his way. The house is now free from disturbing factors and the family may go and come with impunity.

Little Miss Pettigrew told a story of the mortal world which the ghosts applauded enthusiastically.

When disguises had been removed a test of the stability of mortals was imposed by requiring each to walk a string, while looking through opera glasses. Some found that they were not so "straight laced" as they had thought themselves, but each was rewarded for his efforts by finding that the string had led him into the dining room where refreshments in keeping with the occasion were served.

The happy party had to close much sooner than the participants wished, because the Pontotoc County Teachers' association was in session and duly called.

All left declaring President and Mrs. Linschiedt adepts in the art of entertaining, and wishing that Haloween might come more than once a year.

Those present were Mr. and Mrs. Pettigrew, Senator and Mrs. Luther Harrison, Mr. and Mrs. Hugh Norris, Mr. and Mrs. Robinson, Mr. and Mrs. Nelson, Mr. and Mrs. Newcomb, Mesdames Wilson, Pratt, Carter and Mackin; Misses Watt, Watson, Knight, Keller, McClure, Jones, Carney, Kittell, Lyday, Montgomery and Spriggs, and Doctor MacMillan.

KILLING FROST IN OKLAHOMA TONIGHT

By the Associated Press
OKLAHOMA CITY, Nov. 1.—A killing frost, with temperature ranging from 26 to 30 was forecast for Oklahoma tonight by the weather bureau here. In announcing the first killing frost of the season, it was said it would fall on the average date for killing frost in the state.

Snow generally over the middle and the northern plain states, extending as far south as northwest Kansas, is responsible for the drop in temperature, weather officials explained. In those regions the mercury dropped to between 16 and 24 degrees. Moderate general rainfall over the state during the 24 hours ending at 7 a. m. today was reported to the bureau. The North Canadian river, which reached its peak flood state here at 13.3 feet last Friday, today was reported to have fallen to 11.8 feet.

Those Who Hold Unsold Tickets To Opera Must Report

Due to the vigorous efforts of the ticket selling committees to put across the Grand Opera tonight, which at first looked like a failure, the entire house was sold before noon today and there still are dozens requesting seats.

We are selling these extra tickets because all tickets were sold too cheap and if "standing room" isn't sold we are "going in the hole." If you have to stand tonight don't kick, you're doing your duty for Ada.

Standing room will be sold for $2 so if you bought a $3 ticket and must stand you'll be reimbursed at the ticket office. It may be on account of railway bridges washed out yesterday, and due to the terrible muddy roads, many who bought tickets can't get here and thus will make a few more seats available.

It is requested that all committees holding out tickets will check in at the Ada Music company as soon as you read this article. We must see how we stand. Sam Schienberg, chairman.

Flowers Blooming In The Evening News Office Today

Mrs. M. E. Martin of East Eighth street placed the Evening News under substantial obligation to her this morning by sending to the News office a beautiful bouquet of chrysanthemums and roses as a pre-election remembrance. The flowers now occupy a prominent place in the front office and afford a fine relief against a background of desks and typewriters and cub reporters and invisible expletives. Many thanks, Mrs. Martin, and may we have many elections, all of them bringing flowers with them.

Democrat or Republican

Whether the democrats win at the polls,
Or towards the G. O. P. the tide of victory rolls,
Into the false belief we are not allured,
That by either one all evils would be cured.
So, if the Elephant should squeeze within
The White House door, impute it not as sin,
Or, if the Donkey hoofs his way inside,
Let's try to think we are quite satisfied
For, in either case, it may be said right now,
There will be some hard sledging, anyhow,
Since neither the Elephant nor the Mule
Can set aside the Universal rule:
That Fire and Tempest, Accident and Chance,
Attend us while we foot this earthly dance,
And wise is he who, to that view inured,
Doth keep his goods MOST THOROUGHLY INSURED.

FAMOUS AUTHOR OF "THREE WEEKS" SEEKS SUPERMANGO TO THEATRE

At the American. That jungle beast which somehow has managed to hold office these many years as king of his tribe, is losing caste. In fact, no less a person than Gene Pollar, the mighty hero of "The Revenge of Tarzan," has put him down as a four-flusher.

"Lions are cowards," said the genial Gene, when asked to discourse upon the hair-breadth escapes he had during the filming of the jungle scenes in the famous story by Edgar Rice Burroughs. "You can keep three or four of them quiet by merely tapping them on their noses with a light twig—that is," he added, "if they are in a cage." This afterthought gave rise to a suspicion that Mr. Pollar was not so much desirous of beingting the lion's prowess as of depreciating his own amazing exploits with the beast—a suspicion which was borne out during the course of the conversation.

"There were several encounters, of course, during which I'd hardly say I was altogether calm and unafraid," he said smilingly—"even though I knew he was a coward. As a matter of fact," he confided,

"Did you ever—Mr. Pollar suddenly inquired, have a lion roar right into your ear?"

We admitted reluctantly that we'd never had that experience.

"Well, all you have missed," he said consolingly, "is about a two day period of deafness. In one scene Jim stood on his right hind legs, with his paws on my shoulders and let loose a howl that must have gone clear through into China. For two days I was totally deaf in one ear and could hear only slightly with the other. And the worst part was that I had to stand there passively, hardly moving a finger—because a lion when in any unusual position, spreads his claws to steady himself. If he had fallen from beneath his paws he would have held on—and the results might have been unpleasant."

There are two lions in this picture that Tarzan had some struggles with—and he kills them both. "I have been asked," said Mr. Pollar, "if the beasts were really dead. I suppose that's not strange, for I'll admit they do look pretty well finished. As a matter of fact, the dead dog" command was given, and being pretty well tired out they readily obeyed. I believe I would have liked to play "dead dog" myself at that moment."

It was always necessary to be sure that the lions weren't indulging in a fit of temperament and that the hero was up to his usual form, before starting on a scene. "Some times," said Mr. Pollar, "two or three days went by when we could not work because either the lions had too much pep, or I hadn't enough. And it wasn't a mere matter of temperament either, that made me fussy in that respect."

"The Revenge of Tarzan," which was made by the Numa Picture Corporation under the direction of Harry Revier, and distributed by Goldwyn, comes to the American theater for two days commencing today.

Of course you will want some work done for the holidays and you should have it done NOW, by that way neither of us will be rushed.

Vote "No" on State Question No. 94

When you go to the polls Tuesday, vote "no" on State Question 94, Referendum Petition No. 30, providing for a repeal of Senate Bill No. 111.

This bill passed by the state legislature after weeks of investigation and hearings, is being opposed by the propagandists merely because it provides that any person professing to heal the sick in Oklahoma must have spent at least twenty-seven months in preparation and study for practice of such healing.

Surely you would not want your loved ones administered to in illness by anyone who had not spent at least twenty-seven months in acquiring education and training. Then vote "no" and keep the bill in effect.

LET'S RAISE EDUCATIONAL STANDARDS. VOTE "NO"!

THE ADA EVENING NEWS, ADA, OKLAHOMA, MONDAY, NOVEMBER 1, 1920

The Better Schools Amendment

By A. Floyd.

Progress and development of a democracy depend upon two elements or forces, namely, the training of its citizenship and the rendering of service. The emphasizing of these two principles has made the influence of the United States felt not only in America but all over the world. These principles gave rise to the public school system of our country and have made the schools from the one-room school in the remote districts to the state universities. These principles have caused the establishment of every state institution in Oklahoma from the schools of the deaf, the blind, the feeble-minded, etc., to the university. From the penitentiary, asylum, to the reformatory schools of both boys and girls, all at the expense of the state. These institutions cost millions of dollars each year at the hands of the tax payers of Oklahoma. What kind of an American citizen, or Oklahoman, would raise his voice against such institutions at public expense? All who possess the spirit of Americanism are more than willing to render service of this kind to the less unfortunate, orphans, the insane, the blind, the deaf, the feeble-minded, etc., and to raise the citizenship, by means of and other educational institutions.

Then if it is right and proper (which none question) that all of the above work be done by the state, or at the expense of the state, why is it not right and proper for the great common schools to be aided more by a state-wide fund?

The most unfair distribution of taxes to the citizens of Oklahoma is the school tax. We have in this country citizens who pay the limit, which 15 mills, for schools and then do not have the privilege of an accredited school or even what you would term a graded school for eight months. On the other hand, we have citizens who do not pay over 5 or 6 mills and have plenty of funds to carry on a graded school for eight or nine months. Is this giving equal educational opportunities to the children? Are these citizens who do not pay so much school tax more progressive and entitled to special privileges? Do they contribute more to the corporations? No, they are more fortunate only in location.

In the great life of Jesus was a lesson of service. He taught that we should not live unto self and self only, but we are to live unto others. Acting on these principles of service and better citizenship the State Teachers' association sought to improve the conditions of the great common schools of Oklahoma. Hence, they were most unanimous on initiating a bill known as the PETTER SCHOLARSHIP AMENDMENT, or six mill blanket levy over the state.

A great majority of teachers who study school conditions believe this to be the best school measure ever instigated in Oklahoma. It tends to equalize the school advantages to all children and distribute the taxes equally. Isn't that fair to all? Isn't that our moral obligation?

Voters may want to know its effect on our county financially. Pontotoc county would gain $65,917.03 or $5.81 per pupil of scholastic age. Only two districts in the county would lose. They are New Bethel and Lawrence. New Bethel has the power plant, which furnishes electricity to many of our towns located in it. Lawrence has the cement rock crusher, etc., located in it. Are these districts any more entitled to the great amount of tax they pay, when they are not even customers of them, than others which are customers, but not in the district where located?

Ada district would gain $2.21 per pupil. So from a financial standpoint our county would gain much and so would forty-two other counties in the state. While a few of the rest, more especially a few cities, would lose a considerable amount, but the most of them would lose so little that it would not be noticeable.

To be more definite, the latest valuation of the state, including personal, real and public service corporations, is $1,644,666,675.00, six mills on this would be $10,174,783.00. Then, dividing this sum by the number of pupils in the state, which is 673,106, it will give you $15.11 per pupil, which would be the amount received by each district per pupil. It does not mean an increase in taxes; it only means a more equal distribution of taxes.

The state is now spending from $100 to $200 per year per capita on each (about five thousand) who attend the higher institutions of learning. Yet, there are 665,900 of our boys and girls in the common and high schools asking for only one tenth of as much which may come from the oil and corporation wealth of the state. In addition to this ask yourself from where are the inmates to the insane asylums, eleemosynary institutions, prisons and the reformatories, which are supported by the state? From statistics it is found that the cities and counties now fighting this amendment furnish two-thirds of the inmates. Then should they not help the poorer school districts to support decent schools.

In conclusion, may I urge each voter to study the question, which will appear on ballot No. 109, in this issue against the people. In this light of facts, and in the interest of the boys and girls of Oklahoma, and vote YES on November 2 on the better school amendment.

In this issue, may I urge each voter to study the question, which will appear on ballot No. 109, in this light of facts, and in the interest of the boys and girls of Oklahoma, and vote YES on November 2 on the better school amendment.

By Eugene V. Debs.

ATLANTA, Ga., Oct. 30.—This will be my last word in the presidential campaign.

It is enough for me to have been one of the standard bearers of the working class. I regret only not having been able to meet the workers face to face as in other days.

If the earth and all it contains is not for the people—not a handful of them, but all the people—then there is certainly a mighty mistake somewhere that needs the Almighty's correction. A small insignificant minority of the people practically rule the United States of America.

IT'S IN WALL STREET, HE Says.

That insignificant minority has its seat of government in Wall street and it is there that every solitary federal judge is named who lays down the law to the people.

It is also known that the candidates are chosen and their platform written for the dominant political party.

Icewater.

A few weeks after the civil war was closed, an old darky came by the Union officer's quarters selling turtles for twenty-five cents a piece.

A colonel was attracted by the old darky, and as he looked at the old man's stock of turtles he said: "Uncle Eff if you had those turtles in New York, you could get a dollar a piece for them."

Yes mas, if I had a barrel of ice water in hell, I could get a million dollars for it," Uncle Eff replied as he bid the colonel adieu.

DEMOCRATIC TIDE TO SWEEP U.S. GOV. COX SAYS

Travels Through 36 States Convinces Demo. Leader of Great Success.

By James M. Cox.
DAYTON, Ohio.—It is because of my travels through 36 of the 48 states that I am confident the cause of peace, progress and prosperity for America and the whole world will win a victory on next Tuesday. Ever since I accepted the nomination on August 7, I have been visiting the cities, towns and villages of the country. I have presented my case in person direct to the great American jury—the American people—who have never failed to uphold the honor of the nation.

It has been a great fight with the forces of reaction in both national and world affairs seeking to block us at every turn, but it has won. The people understand the issue. It is whether the United States shall be a nation of honor and enter the league of nations—the most humanitarian enterprise of the centuries—or whether she shall be a nation of repudiators and break faith with the 81,000 American boys who sleep in soldier graves, their families, their 4,000,000 comrades in arms and the millions of Americans who made sacrifices, all of whom were given the pledge that we have fighting this war to make future wars impossible.

The senatorial campaign of misrepresentation of the league in the hope of winning the election has failed. Everywhere I traveled I found deep resentment against the nation-wide effort to deceive the American people as to the great issue of the campaign. As soon as the people were told the truth about the league the tide in its favor began to come in. We noticed that this reaction had set in before we left the Pacific coast about the middle of September.

Within the last few weeks this sentiment has swept over the country like a great storm, driving the senatorial conspirators to cover. From the Atlantic to the Pacific a patriotic and religious fervor, similar to that which made possible the winning of the war, has aroused the people to the great interests involved in this campaign. It sweeps on with greater momentum each day.

The soul of America has been aroused. People are allowing God, not the senate oligarchy, to talk to them, and they realize that the chance is theirs to usher in a new day in the affairs of the world which will insure peace, happiness and prosperity, not only for the United States but for all peoples.

FILE OF OLDEST PAPER BROUGHT TO AMERICA

WORCESTER, Mass.—The American Antiquarian society has come into possession of a file extending over 130 years of what is said to be the oldest newspaper in the English-speaking world, the London Gazette. The file runs from the first issue of the paper, which started as the Oxford Gazette, on Nov. 14, 1665, through the year 1796.

President Waldo Lincoln of the society says the Gazette in many cases is the sole source of information for material relating to the American colonies. During the revolution it is, of course, also of value in presenting the English side of the conflict.

ANTI-PAVERS AND CITY OFFICIALS COMPROMISE

Mayor Agrees Not To Go Ahead Until Asked To Do So.

The paving squabble has been hushed. A compromise has been reached between the mayor and city commissioners and those property owners who are for holding up the paving program in the city of Ada. The anti-pavers agree to withdraw their suits for injunctions against the city fathers, restraining them from going ahead with the paving, and the city dads in turn agree not to go ahead until someone blows the whistle. All's well along the mud streets of Ada.

The petitions of the property owners were to be heard in district court this morning. A meeting was arranged between the property owners and the city officials, at which the mayor explained the position of himself and the commissioners, declaring that it was not his intention to pave if the people are opposed to paving. He suggested that the people of those streets which are to be paved organize and appoint a committee to work with the officials in carrying out their paving program later.

Nine-tenths of those present at the meeting were women. They were told that if the suits for injunction were withdrawn, the city would await their bidding before going ahead with the paving. The proposition was put to a vote, and the agreement to withdraw the suits was unanimous.

Pontotoc County Soldiers Get Vocational Training in Ada

"I read your questionnaire in the Evening News," a World War veteran said to Mrs. Orville Snead at Red Cross headquarters here Saturday, "and I would like to have you help me get compensation which is due me from the government."

The questionnaire published in the News told of many things which the Red Cross is striving to do for the boys who served Old Glory. Many of these boys here in Pontotoc county do not know of the home service department maintained here in Ada. Many of them need the home service department to help them in adjusting some little matter or other which they do not know how to go about alone.

Mrs. Snead, who is the home service secretary, gladly gave the young man the assistance he sought and in a few days a check will be coming to him to settle his account with Uncle Sam.

Mrs. Snead is now communicating with the representatives of the Federal Board for Vocational Training at Oklahoma City with a view to securing placement training right here in Ada for an Ada boy who was disabled while serving ing, and it is possible that this plan will soon take shape. It is pointed out that the city could either buy or rent a paving outfit and do the work at a great saving by eliminating the contractor's fees.

It is possible that property owners on one of the streets may take the matter in hand and do the paving themselves, with the co-operation or the city officials, as an experiment.

McLaughlin is the author of "My Friend, The Indian," a book that won wide publicity years ago. He began his work as an Indian agent at Devil's Lake, N. D., when the country was a buffalo pasture and not a square mile of land had been broken by the plow in a state which is now one of the great agricultural areas of the nation. He was stationed at Standing Rock when the Sioux took the war path and annihilated Custer's command at the government service, and though 80 years old, refuses to give up his work.

"I want to round out fifty years as an Indian agent," he said on a recent visit here, "and I will soon do this. I have been twelve years longer in the service than any other man. I could retire on a pension but I would rather wear out in the harness than rust out in idleness."

McLaughlin is said to have a more intimate knowledge of the American Indian than any other living man. He is the oldest Indian agent in
